

Stephen Feneley has worked as a journalist and communications consultant for more than four decades as a journalist, broadcaster and communications consultant.

He has worked across print, broadcasting & online, as a news & current affairs reporter, foreign correspondent and commentator on arts & culture, and he's coached & advised key executives across the corporate, public and not-for-profit sectors in Australia, the UK, continental Europe & Asia.