

Jamie Snashall is the Director Public Affairs at Medicines Australia. He joined MA in October 2018 after time at the Australian Medical Association as Director Public Health. He was deputy head of government relations for almost 9 years with Telstra, working across a range of business units including Telstra Health.

From 2001-04 he was media and policy adviser to Julia Gillard MP and he also spent a year as senior adviser to Rob Hulls MP, Attorney-General and Planning Minister in the Bracks Government.

Jamie began his career in the Department of Health and he has also worked in the Department of Environment, the Australian Greenhouse Office and the Australian Bureau of Statistics. He has extensive experience as a social science and public affairs consultant, having worked for firms in Canberra, Melbourne and Hobart.

He holds a Masters' degree in public administration from Harvard University and an Honours degree in political science from the ANU.